DEMOCRATIC STATE CONVENTION.

PURSUANT TO RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED BY THE DEMOCRATIC STATE CENTRAL COMMITTEE April 18th, 1900, a Democratic State Convention was called to meet at Virginia City on Thursday, September 6, 1900.

At 1 o'clock P. M. for the purpose of nominating three Presidential Electors; three alternate; one Member of Congress; one Supreme Judge; and two Regents of the State University. Under the standard of appointment adopted by the State Central Committee, the delegates to the convention are designated as follows:

By resolution.

Saturday, August 25, 1900.

Was designated for the holding of primaries, or otherwise selecting the delegates from the different counties. It was further ordered, that whatever consideration, feasible and practicable, the election of delegates should be by primary. When not so considered by the Democratic State Central Committee, such committees should name the delegates from their respective counties and in such counties as have no Democratic Central Committee one of the local members of the Democratic State Central Committee shall either call primaries or otherwise select the delegates from their respective counties.

The test for voters at the primaries and for delegates is as follows:

"I favor the free and unlimited exchange of trade and live at the rate of 16 to 1, and I pledge myself to vote for the nominee of the Democratic Party at the Convention."

A SHORT REVIEW OF BRYAN AT INDIANAPOLIS.

Bryan's speech at Indianapolis is all that could be expected from a mind that has reviewed the history of the republic and familiarized itself with facts included in republican government. It is a masterly effort in details and particulars, reciting principles from which conclusions are arrived at respecting the policy of the Republican party which differs so materially from the conception, judgment and expressed thought by leading men who have made an impression upon the history of the country pertaining to principles in government. It is an effort for the popular ear which makes plain the theory of government in a republic such as ours, which is better calculated to influence the mind, as it is readier understood by the mass of the people than the more abstruse method of argument from cause to effect, or from effect to cause upon fundamental principles. His argument was by comparison, or illustration by giving and comparing facts and conditions. It was largely a detail of historical facts illustrated by the sayings of great men, chief among which are the sayings of his political patron saint, Jefferson, Washington and Lincoln. His conclusions are just and therefore true in principle and for that reason unanswerable from a democratic or republican position. The treaty with Spain is reviewed and the causes that led up to making the treaty. He recited the reasons for his approval of the treaty when it was made, which were to close the war and discharge the volunteers and to procure control of the subject matter included in the interest of independence and self-government for the Philippines upon a basis like that extended to Cuba.

News of All the Counties in the State Clipped From Exchanges.

The Klippinger arena at Silver is now running in fine shape—Report.

It is officially announced that the new Edison process of extracting gold from gravel at the cost of but few cents per ton has proved a success. The nature of the process is kept a secret.

The county funds have been enriched $247, billion tax on ore from the Consolidated Virginia, and also over $200 from the Scheel mine. This is the first billion tax received since 1895.—Virginia Enterprise.

John Ryan and a corps of assistants have been engaged for the past week loading the old Cory mill machinery on the cars. This material is the property of A. J. McCone and has laid beside the railroad here for ten years. It is being taken to Reno, from which place it will be shipped in divers directions.—Walker Lake Bulletin.

Bully for Pete.

Assessor Evans came around and collected $3 a head from every member of the JOURNAL force yesterday, with the exception of the devil, but we love him still.

Continuing His Travels.

"Jesse Clyde Rimsey, 140 South Green street, Chicago, Illinois." The above is the manner in which the little hobo, mentioned in yesterday's paper, inscribed his name on the roster of fame, otherwise known as the JOURNAL's tramp printer register.

A Good Performance.

Another performance was given last evening in Salvation Army hall by Prof. Montague's cockatoo circus. The audience was large and thoroughly enjoyed the interesting entertainment. The birds gave a nippodrome exhibition that interested the grown folk and pleased the children.

Pugilistic Hobos.

Yesterday afternoon two hobos had a set to near the Pyramid house. The officers called time at the end of the third round. The belligerents were booked at the police court under the names of Ruhlman and Fitzsimmons. They will work out their animosity on the rock pile.

Give Him A Call.

E. F. Morton has opened a thoroughly equipped shoemaker's shop on Second street, two doors west of postoffice. Boots and shoes made to order and repairing promptly and neatly done. Prices moderate and satisfaction guaranteed. a10-1w

Kathryn Kidder, who is spending the summer in London and Paris, will return to America the first of September to commence rehearsals of "A Midsummer Night's Dream," in which play she and Louis James will star the coming season. Miss Kidder writes her managers, Messrs. Waggoners and Kemper, that she has secured two plays abroad. The plays are yet unnamed. One of them will be produced during the coming season.

The right will prevail against the most determined attack that has been made upon free institutions since the day the devil deceived the woman into eating the forbidden fruit. The shame of Eve, when she knew she was naked, should not be compared to the shame that is upon McKinley and the Republican party in their efforts to deceive the people into submitting to a slavery more galling if it is possible than the slavery of transgression entailed by Satan upon the innocent pair in the garden.

THE COUNTY CENTRAL COMMITTEE WILL APPOINT DELEGATES.

In the inscrutable wisdom of Democrats they decided that the County Central committee should appoint delegates to the State convention. The unknown widow of good men is not dangerous, and it is believed by the JOURNAL when its studying cap is adjusted to the times in Nevada, and it has digested the conclusions of others, equally as good men as the central committee, upon the subject, that no harm can come from the course agreed upon by those present at the meeting Thursday evening. Good men who are known to be in favor of freedom from bondage should be appointed, which the writer believes will be done by the gentlemen who have in this instance the good of the State largely in their hands.

Special to the JOURNAL.

NEW YORK, August 10.—Bob Fitzsimmons knocked out Gus Ruhlin in the sixth round of the fiercest fight seen for many months.

A perfect rain of blows, many of which landed on the solar plexus, soon wore out the strength of the Ohio giant, and at the end of the fifth round he was reeling and almost helpless.

In the sixth round Fitz gave Ruhlin no rest and sent him to the floor with a stiff left on the jaw, following it up with heavy body punches. When he rose Fitz swung his right with terrible force and landed on Ruhlin's jaw. Gus went down like a log and out.

Bandit Cremated.

Special to the JOURNAL.

GOO! LAND, Kas., August 10.—Two robbers, who held up the Union Pacific train in Colorado, were surrounded at a ranch near here to-day. After a battle, in which two officers were wounded, one of the robbers was shot and killed. The other took refuge in a house and held the officers at bay. At last a cowboy fired the house and the bandit was cremated in the ruins.

A BUSTLING BURG. CLEANING OUT OUR SUMMER GOODS

Purposes of the Company.

Hon. J. F. Condon, one of the officials and principal stockholders of the Verdi Lumber Company, favored the JOURNAL with an interview yesterday.

With the exception of the article published in this paper the day before the new company was organized, this interview is the first knowledge that goes forth to the world of a mammoth industrial enterprise to be launched in this county. Mr. Condon said:

"We have incorporated the Verdi Lumber Company with a capitalization of $200,000, all of which is subscribed and paid up."

"The new company is virtually the successor of the Verdi Mill Company. The step was taken not only to have increased capitalization, but to have added powers. The old company was practically restricted to sawing wood. Under the provisions of the new corporation we can build railroads, establish lighting plants, transact mercantile and banking business, etc."

"We will begin immediately the construction of a modern sawmill, containing a band saw and all other up-to-date machinery. It will be located a fourth of a mile below the box factory, inside the town of Verdi. The capacity of the mill will be 15,000,000 feet a year and we expect to begin sawing early next spring."

"Our engineer corps are making final surveys for a broad gauge railroad to extend from Verdi to and beyond Dog Valley."

"What does 'beyond' mean," inquired the reporter, with visions of a railroad extending northward a hundred miles, through fertile valleys, magnificent forests and a wealthy mining district. Mr. Condon hesitated a moment.

"Yes," said he, "we hope to build considerably 'beyond' Dog Valley sometime in the near future. Perhaps the Lewis mill railroad will be part of our system, but this fall we will lay only sixteen miles of track."

"The box factory will be considerably enlarged and in all we will employ at least 150 men."

"O. Lonkey's store has become a part of the company's holdings and we will conduct it as a company store. Our office will be in the new brick store building."

"Another thing we intend to do is to put in an electric plant for lighting the works. This may also be utilized to light the town of Verdi."

"What this new enterprise means for our neighbor to the west is difficult to comprehend at this time. The probabilities, however, are that Verdi will at no distant date be the terminus of a railroad extending into the magnificent timber belt of Plumas and be the site of large manufacturing enterprises. The JOURNAL congratulates you, Verdi."

An Arrival From Nome.

Frank Decarie has returned from Nome. He with four others departed for the northern gold fields last April. They met with the usual hard luck that befall nearly all the argonauts.

Mr. Decarie has had quite enough of that God-forsaken, lawless, sickly, barren country and is happy as a lark to be back in old Nevada.

Mrs. Muntz has opened a boarding house and is meeting with great success.

What Kills the Fish.

J. P. Merrill knows more about fish than a dog does of fleas. The only difference is that friend Merrill has the fish concentrated in his brain while Towser has the pesky insects scattered all over his hide.

Mr. Merrill was asked by the JOURNAL scribe if the acids from the paper mill were killing the trout in the Truckee. There came an instant and decided "no."

He said: "The other day Fish Commissioner Gould and Chief Deputy Babcock visited Floriston and found that about 75 inches of water was flowing into the sump pond where the acid is conveyed. This caused considerable seepage."

"At the request of the piscatorial experts this water was turned off and the pond is gradually decreasing in contents. While the liquor becomes stronger the seepage is much less."

"A week ago the water was discolored to a point several miles below Verdi, but now it is quite clear. I took two samples some days ago. This is from the river at Verdi," and Mr. Merrill held up a flask containing a liquid about the shade of ginger ale.

"This from the sump pond." The latter bottle was filled with a fluid that was the color of extract of vanilla.

"Not only were the fish in the river apparently uninjured, but some suckers were swimming about quite unconcernedly in the pond. Trout placed in the pond quickly perished in the strong liquor."

"What is killing the fish is the rack at the paper mill dam. It was built to prevent drift wood entering the pipe that conveys the water to the turbines. The current is so strong that trout approaching too near are held against the sieve and are raked out by the hundreds. The small fry pass through and are destroyed on the wheels."

Summer Outing.

The outing season is at its height and quite a number of dwellers by the bay are being accommodated in the hotels and farm houses. The excellent trout fishing, and pure air and good treatment will cause these visitors to return next year and bring their friends.

Short Ones.

Station Agent and Justice of the Peace King is in San Francisco enjoying a well-earned vacation.

The Verdi Dramatic Club will shortly put on another play.

Verdi Will Boom.

This thriving village has been given another impetus on the highway toward citydom by the re-incorporation of the old mill company.

Under the new order of things there will be at least fifty more families calling this their home before spring opens.

Building operations are lively, many artisans from Reno being employed upon construction work. Another street or two have been laid out, and building lots are being disposed of.

The paper mill is also very beneficial to this place, especially to the saloon men. The employees of that establishment drift down to Verdi quite regularly.

There are rumors that the coal deposits in the vicinity will be developed. As yet nothing but a form of lignite has been found by the surface scratches.

Honeyman Benefit.

The opera house was crowded down stairs last night and a fair gallery. The stage was occupied by veterans of the Mexican, Civil and Spanish wars. After an overture by Julien's orchestra, the Gazette quartette made a bit and were called back again.

Rev. Unsworth introduced Elmer Honeyman, the beneficiary of the entertainment.

Mr. Honeyman spoke from manuscript for three-quarters of an hour, relating his experiences while in captivity by the Tagals in Luzon. His description of the country and the manners and customs of the country was extremely interesting. He was decidedly imperialistic in his views.

When the address was completed Mr. Honeyman retired and donned the fantastic garments he wore while in captivity. The interim was taken advantage of by selling Mr. Honeyman's photos.

When he returned the audience arose and sang the "Star Spangled Banner," which concluded the evening's entertainment.

Ferguson's band is deserving of mention as its service in collecting the crowd were rendered gratis. Professor Martinez of the Montague company also did a turn "for the good of the order."

On Their Way to China.

Battery O, Seventh Artillery, passed west last evening en route from Fort Riley, Kansas, to the seat of war. The first section carried the men and the second bore the equipment.

Captain J. R. Williams and Lieutenant Hearn and Ward were in command. The privates and non-commissioned officers numbered 145 men.

The equipment train was heavily laden. Six huge siege guns were the main attraction. These 7-inch howitzers will be hurling destruction at the Mongolians two months from now. There were ammunition wagons, horses to draw them, commissary and everything needed to conduct a campaign.

The battery will sail for the port nearest the scene of action in a very few days. They expect to embark in the transport Belgian King.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surface of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free. Sold by Druggists, price 75c. per bottle.

The Absolutely Pure BAKING-POWDER

is the baking powder of general use, its sale exceeding that of all other baking powders combined

Royal Baking Powder has not its counterpart at home or abroad. Its qualities, which make the bread more healthful and the cake of finer appearance and flavor, are peculiar to itself and are not constituent in other leavening agents.

Great efforts are made to sell alum baking powders under the plea that they are so many cents a pound cheaper than Royal. The admission that they are inferior. But alum powders contain a corrosive poison and should not be used in food, no matter how cheap.
